

Uterine Cancer

Poly-MVA Cancer Patient Testimonials

Wanda M.

Date: April 17, 2008

No
Picture Available

Diagnosis: Metastatic Uterine Cancer
(Stage 4)

5 Updates

7-14-08 – 5-05-09 – 4-12-10
1-14-08 - 8-08-2011

This is my experience in the last 12 months using Poly-MVA.

April 17, 2008 I was diagnosed with stage 4 cancer in my colon, uterus , and ovaries. My Doctor first considered surgery but since the cancer had gone to stage 4 he wanted me to go through chemotherapy.

Instead, I began taking POLYMVA on May 21,2008. I took 3 IV's of Poly-MVA a week plus 12tsp a day on opposite days. This was a total of 48 Poly IV's.

After 6 months of treatment, a pet-scan showed signs of the colon tumor growing. I began another round of 48 Poly-MVA IV's. After due consideration I decided on chemotherapy. I started chemo January 8, 2009. I continued my Poly-MVA during chemo.

I had another set of 48 Poly-MVA IV's during these chemo sessions. I took my last chemotherapy on May 27, 2009. After a pet-scan on June 16, 2009 my chemo doctor told me that I was cancer free.

I continue to take 12tsp of poly-MVA per day orally. I am feeling better now and gaining weight and getting my appetite back. I give all the praise to GOD and the guidance HE gave me.

Wanda

7-14-2008

Spoke to Wanda. She has been feeling really good for the past three weeks. She said the poly has taken the pain out of her stomach and that means a lot to her.

5-05-2009

Followed up with Wanda. She is doing well but still has another round of chemo and then they will do some testing to let her know how she is doing. Wanda said the poly has really helped her get thru the chemo.

4-12-2010

Spoke to Wanda, she is doing very well. She will be going in for blood work on Friday and will see her doctor next Tuesday for the results.

1-14-2011

Wanda says that the new drugs that her doctor has her on seem to be doing ok. However, her doctor asked her to stay off the poly while she is on the new medication.

8-08-2011

Talked to Wanda. She is doing ok but not feeling her best. She will be going on a different series of meds and hopes it will help her. She has been off the poly due to her Doctors request.